McDonald's introducing plant-based products

McDonald's is finally introducing plant-based products produced by Beyond Meat. McDonald's will sell what it calls the PLT, which stands for plant, lettuce and tomato, for 12 weeks starting September 2019 in 28 restaurants throughout Canada.

"As customer interest in plant-based products accelerated rapidly, our curiosity also increased too. We have been observing this emerging trend, and now we are ready to learn more by running a test in one of our markets. We are in learning mode," said Ann Wahlgren, Vice President of Global Menu Strategy at McDonald's. 5

Plant-based meat substitute products have increased in popularity, with start-up companies such as Beyond Meat and Impossible Foods selling pea or soy-based burgers that copy the taste and texture of meat. 10

It is not McDonald's first experience of using plant-based meat substitutes. In April 2019, it launched a soy and wheat burger, called the 'Big Vegan' in Germany, one of McDonald's biggest international markets. It offers vegan* items in Sweden and Finland.

New test marketing in North America suggests McDonald's could soon introduce meatless burgers to all its restaurants. Other fast food chains that have already put plant-based products on their menus in 2019 include Burger King, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Tim Horton's. 15

* vegan: a product that does not contain any animal ingredients or animal-derived ingredients.

McDonald's Bigger, Bolder Vision 2020 growth plan

McDonald's drive-through waiting times keep getting longer and longer. The average time to go through a drive-through at McDonald's was 273 seconds, an increase of almost 11 seconds on the previous year. With 70% of orders coming through drive-throughs, it is easy to see why McDonald's would want to make the experience a faster one.

5

McDonald's is investing millions of dollars to reverse this trend. As part of its growth plan McDonald's is going to use artificial intelligence technology and redesign its drive-throughs. This technology will be used in its 8,000 drive-throughs in the US to speed up delivery. The company is planning on introducing this technology to international markets in 2020. At the same time, McDonald's will redesign all single lane drive-throughs so that a second lane is added to meet demand during peak times.

Transforming Tesco

In the autumn of 2014 Tesco was in a crisis. The retail giant had lost market share to Aldi and Lidl and its customers were dissatisfied. The new CEO, Dave Lewis, completely changed the way things were done at Tesco. His immediate task was one of increasing profits rather than sales. He cut back on non-core loss-making activities such as garden centres and online streaming services. He updated all Tesco's own brand products. 5

Fast forward to 2019; the business was again growing with its sustainable growth plan. Profits were rising with margins reaching 3.7% and cost savings of £1.6bn. The £22bn of debt Dave Lewis took on had almost halved. Tesco is expected to make a £2bn profit in 2019 compared to a £6.4bn loss in 2015. 10

"The Tesco brand is stronger and customer satisfaction is the highest it has been for many years", said Dave Lewis as he announced he was resigning as CEO in September 2019. He had done what he had set out to do.

Richer Sounds* founder hands over shares in the business to employees

Julian Richer founded Richer Sounds, an electronics retail business. Julian Richer set up the company when he was 19 and it now has more than 500 employees. He recently announced that he would put 60% of Richer Sounds' shares into an Employee Ownership Trust to mark his 60th birthday.

He said: "Having reached the age of 60 in March, I felt the time was right to ensure that the transition goes smoothly and I can be part of it. I still really care about the business but it is time for the next generation."

Each employee will receive shares and £1 000 for every year they have worked at Richer Sounds, which will mean an average payout of £8 000. A number of employees will receive more: one has worked there for more than 40 years, while 39 employees have been at Richer Sounds for more than 20 years. Julian Richer said the Trust would operate according to a set of principles to ensure it sticks to the values set by him. The company will set up an employee advisory council to represent the interests of employees.
