

- 6 The phenotype of an organism is the result of interactions between the genotype and the environment.

Phenotypes can show continuous or discontinuous variation in a population.

- (a) Sketch a graph to show the distribution for a phenotype showing continuous variation in a population.

(2)